

LITHICS 28 (for 2007)

CONTENTS

Editorial	R. Hosfield	3
Papers
Dealing with the 'quartz problem' in Irish lithic research	K. Driscoll & G.M. Warren	4
Initial observations from experiments into the possible use of fire with stone tools in the manufacture of the Clacton point	H. Fluck	15
Getting round to the point: biface tip shape in the British Lower Palaeolithic	J. McNabb & C. Rivett	20
Tribrachs and related artefacts: background, replication and consideration of a possible miniature example from Basingstoke, Hampshire	D. Field & H. Lamdin-Whymark	33
Howburn, near Biggar, South Lanarkshire: Preliminary notice of a Scottish inland early Holocene lithic assemblage	A. Saville, T.B. Ballin & T. Ward	41
Raw material exploitation at the Middle Pleistocene site of Vértesszölös, Hungary	H. Fluck & J. McNabb	50
John Wymer Bursary 2007
Study of the Middle Palaeolithic assemblage of Sesselfels (Germany)	K. Ruebens	65
Letters & Notes
A Lower Palaeolithic biface found at South Gare, Redcar	P. Rowe	68
The Lithic Studies Society Visit to Creswell Crags, 14 th July 2007	B. Bishop	70
Lithic Studies Society 2007 AGM Lecture	R. Wragg Sykes	74
Book Reviews
Stone Knapping: the Necessary Conditions for a Uniquely Hominin Behaviour, V. Roux & B. Bril (eds.)	F. Wenban-Smith	76

Conference Reviews

- A global view of bifaces from Tautavel: A review of the conference Les cultures à bifaces du Pléistocène inférieur et moyen dans le monde. Émergence du sens de l'harmonie R. Hosfield 79

Minutes & Finances

- Minutes of the Annual General Meeting (2007) 84